Indigenous Peoples Day 2021

Drive-Thru Route

My name is Ehsan Haghi and I am the Community Energy Specialist at Musqueam Indian Band. I am going to share tips on how we can maintain our homes more effectively and reduce our hydro and gas bills. Today, we are focusing on mold and moisture:

Homes today are more airtight than houses of the past. As a result, moisture can build up inside, especially during winter when windows are kept closed. Dampness, mold growth on walls and heavy condensation on windows are signs of too much moisture. Over time, this excess wetness can cause poor air quality and damage the structure of a home. Multiple sources add moisture to your house. Table below shows how everyday activities add moisture to a house for a family of four.

Activity	Moisture produced (Liter)
Cooking – three meals daily for one week	6.3
Bathing – 0.2 L per shower	2.4
Clothes washing (per week)	1.8
Floor mopping	1.3
Normal respiration and skin evaporation from occupants	38.0
Total moisture production per week	49.8

Consider reducing added moisture to your house by measures such as using lids on pots when cooking. In addition to everyday activities, water leaks are a source of moisture in your house and need to be fixed immediately. Moreover, there are other suggestion you may follow to reduce moisture in your house:

Check your humidifier

If your furnace has a humidifier, set it lower to reduce humidity levels. Don't run your humidifier if you already have high humidity levels in your house. If your house feels dense and moist, curtains and pillows feel damp, or condensation is building up on windows or window sills it means you have high humidity levels.

Ventilate

Make sure exhaust fans are installed in bathrooms and kitchens, and make sure the fans vent directly to the outside. Run your bathroom fan for a minimum of 20 minutes after taking a shower, to allow for the removal of excess humidity and moisture. Bathroom fans are crucial in controlling moisture in your home. Bathroom fans exhaust excess moisture, humidity, odors and other pollutants in your bathroom. The bathroom fan also helps to remove water vapor accumulated on mirrors and walls.

Keep moisture out of your house

Cover exposed earth floors in basements and crawl spaces with moisture barriers. Install a sump pump to remove excess moisture under the foundation. Fix water leaks in the basement. Make sure the grading slopes away from your house so water does not flow towards the foundation. Ensure eaves troughs adequately divert water away from your home.

Vent your dryer to the outside

Make sure your dryer is vented to outside the house and not the inside. For every load of laundry you do, you are allowing two gallons of water into your house. That is an amazing amount of moisture you are introducing to your home that could lead to mold growth.

Are you interested in receiving an energy assessment of your house as well as FREE energy saving products including LED lamps, weather stripping, and water-saving showerheads?? Musqueam housing department is working with BC Hydro and Fortis BC to bring the Energy Conservation Assistance Program (ECAP) to the community.

To receive the service, please fill the ECAP application form. If you have a BC Hydro and a Fortis BC account, fill both sections of the application. Please drop the filled application at the reception in the band office or email/text it to Ehsan Haghi. We will collect the forms and submit them on your behalf.

JOB OPPORTUNITY - Deadline Extended!!

Interested in education and community engagement? Love the Fraser River and want to learn more about our history?

The Fraser River Discovery Centre (FRDC) is seeking a Musqueam community member to become their first Indigenous Education and Engagement Coordinator!

Last year, Musqueam and the FRDC signed an agreement setting out an intention to create an Indigenous place of learning. The new coordinator will support our partnership with FRDC, and develop educational materials about Musqueam's Fraser River history, as well as other local First Nations. A big part of the job is building relationships with First Nations communities to receive input about the place of learning.

Applicants need to be a Musqueam community member familiar with local Indigenous culture, traditions and protocols, and be eager to share their knowledge.

The role is a full-time contract from June-December 2021, with possible extension.

Pay: $18/hour, plus 4% in lieu of vacation pay.

NEW Deadline: Friday, June 11, 2021

June 2, 2021 - Heritage House Tour 2021 Online starts tomorrow!

June 2, 2021

Hi Leona,

Coming up tomorrow evening at 7pm, we will be kicking off Heritage House Tour 2021 Online! Tickets are still available and it's not too late to register to join us for two exclusive events. Later this month on June 17th, we will be hosting a free virtual event and Places That Matter plaque presentation celebrating the stories of Mennonite Maids: Daughters in the City.

In This Issue:

- Heritage House Tour 2021 Online
- Thank you to our Heritage House Tour 2021 Online Sponsors
- National Indigenous History Month
- Places That Matter Plaque Presentation
- Sponsored seats for students for Heritage House Tour 2021 Online

Visit our Website

June is National Indigenous History Month. This year, it is dedicated to the missing children, the families left behind and the survivors of residential schools. Below we share some information on how to participate, as well as learning and support resources available.

Heritage House Tour 2021 Online

Our highly-anticipated Heritage House Tour is starting this Thursday at 7pm! We hope you will join us to virtually tour this distinctive line-up of beautiful heritage homes.

Presented in a virtual format for the first time, there will be two special events on Thursday, June 3rd and Tuesday, June 8th. We will tour through six unique homes and explore their stories, past and present, from early architects, builders and residents to more recent restorations and adaptations for modern living. While we cannot step through the doors together this year, we hope you will join us for this special opportunity to tour inside remarkable homes – exclusively available for the virtual Heritage House Tour 2021 Online.

What is your favourite heritage house style? This Mission Revival style home makes a stunning impression from every angle. Features of this style include red clay tiles, curved parapets and stucco exteriors with spare decorative detailing such as glazed tiles. This home is just one of the unique houses we will visit for our Heritage House Tour 2021 Online on June 3rd and June 8th. Don't miss the chance to virtually step inside!

VHF has several sponsored seats available for students for our upcoming Heritage House Tour 2021 Online on June 3rd and June 8th. Please contact our Office and Program Coordinator, Caroline McDonald, for details.

Across five different neighbourhoods, we will visit a 1958 award-winning Mid-Century Modern home, an 1890s Strathcona home, a grand Shaughnessy estate home, a 1928 apartment, and more. We will enjoy original interior features, craftsmanship, and unique design, and explore the history and heritage significance of each house.

In each event, hosted live, we will take a pre-recorded video tour of each of three homes. VHF staff will be joined by knowledgeable guides including artist and author Michael Kluckner, architectural historian Jim Wolf, heritage consultant Donald Luxton, and others, who will be on hand to answer questions and share more about local history.

Each year since 2003, the Heritage House Tour has provided a wonderful opportunity to explore Vancouver's heritage homes and has regularly welcomed over 1000 participants annually. It also raises essential funds to support VHF's educational programs year-round.

Thursday, June 3rd and Tuesday, June 8th
7pm - 8:30pm
Register here, $40/$30

If you cannot make both event times, you can still enjoy the tour! Registered participants will have access to the recordings after each event.

Thank you to our Heritage House Tour 2021 Online Sponsors

June is National Indigenous History Month

National Indigenous History Month this year is dedicated to the missing children, families left behind and survivors of residential schools. The news this week has brought new awareness for many of the devastating impacts of the residential schools on families and communities through generations. Heritage BC has today shared a call to action that all can take a part in.

This month offers many opportunities to learn more about the rich and diverse culture, history, heritage and experiences of Canada's Indigenous peoples. We share some of these below:

The government of Canada offers a selection of resources here for National Indigenous History Month.

The National Trust for Canada is highlighting Indigenous stories in Passport Places for National Indigenous Peoples Day, from Boyd's Cove, Newfoundland and Labrador, to Smoky Lake, Alberta.

In British Columbia, there are many resources to explore. The Royal BC Museum is home to a large Indigenous collection including thousands of informative photographs, films, recordings and objects. Indigenous Tourism BC also offers options of activities, workshops and learning resources.

As we approach National Indigenous Peoples Day on June 21st, VHF will continue to explore and share resources and ways to participate.

For residential school survivors and those struggling: The National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation has an Indian Residential Schools Crisis Line available 24 hours a day at 1-866-925-4419. Additional support is also listed here.

Places That Matter: Mennonite Maids - Daughters in the City

VHF invites you to participate in a special event on June 17th! Join us for a Places That Matter virtual plaque presentation celebrating the history and stories of the Mennonite Maids: Daughters in the City.

Between 1931 and 1961, over 2000 young Mennonite daughters worked as maids in Vancouver homes.

The virtual presentation will include historical context and stories by the author of Daughters in the City, Dr. Ruth Derksen Siemens and the Mennonite Museum Society's Director, Richard Thiessen. We will present the Places That Matter plaque and share details of its installation in South Vancouver.
