November 2022

Upcoming Work

The Iona Island Wastewater Treatment Plant (IIWWTP) in the City of Richmond, is being upgraded to protect public health and the environment in a growing region. Metro Vancouver is planning to conduct in-water geotechnical investigations to support the design of the new plant and seismic resilience for the project.

Overnight Work

Starting on November 22, 2022 for approximately two weeks, Metro Vancouver will conduct in-water geotechnical drilling work in the North Arm of the Fraser River and in McDonald Slough (see map on reverse). This geotechnical drilling work will begin in the North Arm of the Fraser River and will switch back and forth between locations in McDonald Slough. The North Arm work is expected to be completed over a 9-day period while the McDonald Slough work will take approximately six days. This work will occur 24 hours a day and seven days a week. All work will comply with City of Richmond bylaws or granted bylaw variances.

Eight geotechnical investigation locations in the North Arm Fraser River will be positioned outside of the navigation channel. These investigation locations are bordered by the City of Vancouver and Musqueam Indian Reserve 2 to the north, and the City of Richmond to the south. Three additional geotechnical investigation sites will be located in McDonald Slough. The timing for the in-water investigations takes into consideration the surrounding environmental constraints and marine user groups and works will be undertaken outside of the fisheries window (reduced periods of risk to fish and fish habitats).

Noise Impacts

At times during this work, residents and businesses may hear noise from the use of equipment needed to complete the work. Sources of potential noise from investigation activities include:

- Sonic vibrations during drilling
- Vessel engine noise
- Intermittent hammer strikes at three investigation locations

Metro Vancouver is committed to minimizing impacts on the community, and will ensure that measures are in place to reduce noise, including:

- Adding sound baffling measures to buffer noise impacts
- Timing the work so that most of the noise generating activities occur in the day

Project Operations and Lighting

A barge (approximately 25 metres long) will be maneuvered by tugboat and positioned at each geotechnical investigation locations, and additional support vessels will be used to transport equipment and personnel to and from the barge.

The barge will be equipped with portable lighting towers to illuminate the workspace on the barge and navigational lighting will be used by the tug and support vessels. Lighting will be positioned in an upstream direction to identify any floating debris coming down river.

Community Liaison

Metro Vancouver is committed to minimizing the impacts of this work on residents and the community. A Community Liaison has been assigned to this project who will be available to discuss the project impacts and address any questions or concerns.

We thank you for your continued patience and understanding as we work to upgrade the IWWTP Projects in your community.

Call for Expressions of Interest: An invitation to xʷməθkʷəy̓əm artists

Staff from the Sustainability Hub and Center for Sustainable Food Systems at UBC Farm at the University of British Columbia invite all interested xʷməθkʷəy̓əm artists to join us for a meal, a tour of the Centre for Interactive Research on Sustainability (CIRS), and conversation about the potential for a commissioned artwork to be installed in this space.

Beginning the dialogue

As UBC staff, our work intersects with reconciliation and the climate emergency. The idea for a commissioned artwork from a xʷməθkʷəy̓əm artist emerged over the past year as one clear opportunity to learn from and with our xʷməθkʷəy̓əm hosts as we address shared climate and sustainability goals.

We are seeking an artist, or collaboration of artists, to help transform CIRS into a place that reflects and respects the generational connections of xʷməθkʷəy̓əm to UBC. Please join us to explore your vision for the creation of a large-scale commissioned artwork in this space.

NOTE: Emerging and established artists welcome to join!

RSVP by October 25

Join us for lunch and building tour on November 2 or November 24 from 12-2pm, at the Centre for Interactive Research on Sustainability at 2260 West Mall. Please contact Natalie Hawryshkewich (natalie.haw@ubc.ca) by October 25 to RSVP, sharing any dietary requests.

NOTE: Transportation available. Just let Natalie know if you would like us to arrange transportation for you to and from the building,

Expressions of Interest due by December 15

Unable to join the tour but still interested in the opportunity? Get in touch anyway. Following the luncheon and tour, we invite Expressions of Interest via oral submission (ie. a structured conversation) with our team up until December 15.

LifeGuard App & How it works

When someone is about to use, especially alone, they can open the app and record the type of substance they are using and confirm their location. The app will hold this information, and a timer is set which can be paused or extended by the app user at any time.

As the timer ends, the app will sound an alarm, flash a light, and vibrate. The user must hit a button to stop the alarm and indicate they are fine. If they are unable to stop the alarm, a text-to-voice call will go straight to 9-1-1. This alerts emergency medical dispatchers
