UBC - GATEWAY | PROJECT OVERVIEW

The Gateway Building is located at a prime entrance to the UBC campus and has been sited and designed through significant engagement with Musqueam. Situated at the intersection of Westbrook Mall and University Boulevard, it is intended to be a gateway into the Point Grey campus. The Gateway Building creates a place for learning, research, and community outreach through co-location of the schools of Nursing, Kinesiology, Language Science, and UBC health clinics.

The design embodies Musqueam values: A Site of Welcoming, A Place for Learning, Generating Well-Being, and Enduring Stewardship. The building program includes 13,586 net square meters (nsm) of classrooms, teaching laboratories, wet and dry research space, clinic spaces, offices, and shared common spaces for the School of Nursing, School of Kinesiology, Language Science, UBC Health and UBC Integrated Health and Wellbeing Services. The design represents a gross building area of 24,800 gross square meters.

As a gateway building, the project reflects UBC as a global institution. The approach taken is one acknowledging the broader west coast setting of the region while drawing on the immediate context of the campus through massing, materials, porosity and public realm. The building is conceived as two five storey program bars using mass timber construction sitting on a recessed and visually transparent base that merges with an expanded public realm that celebrates Indigenous landscape and vegetation. The program bars are separated by a top lit six storey atrium that is an extension of the public realm and is the social heart of the building community.

Dial 211

A support line for all of life's challenges; including information & obtain referrals to physical & mental health resources, housing, utility, food & employment assistance; suicide & crisis intervention

LifeGuard App & How it works

When someone is about to use, especially alone, they can open the app and record the type of substance they are using and confirm their location. The app will hold this information, and a timer is set which can be paused or extended by the app user at any time.

As the timer ends, the app will sound an alarm, flash a light, and vibrate. The user must hit a button to stop the alarm and indicate they are fine. If they are unable to stop the alarm, a text-to-voice call will go straight to 9-1-1. This alerts emergency medical dispatchers.

Japanese Beetle and The Canadian Food Inspectors Agency (CFIA)

On Wednesday August 2nd, The Canadian Food Inspectors Agency (CFIA) will be on IR2 lands in order to set up bug traps as part of their ongoing response to the Japanese beetle, Popillia japonica. These traps are being set up to determine if there is a presence of Japanese beetle in the area.

The traps have a floral and pheromone lure. The lure is not harmful to humans, pets, birds or other insects, like bees and butterflies. Since the traps provide important data, CFIA asks that the traps be left alone.

Visit this website for more information about the Japanese beetle, its status as an invasive species and the work CFIA is doing to prevent it's spread in our area:
